MOVING FIRMS GRANT INCREASE TO EMPLOYEES

Strike of 356 Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Packers, on Since Sept. 1, Settled and Men Resume Work.

The furniture moving industry, which was halted Sept. 1 by a strike of the 356 union teamsters employed by the 200 moving and storage concerns belonging to the St. Louis Furniture Movers' Association and the Mutual Movers' Association, was resumed at 6 o'clock this morning when the strikers returned to work at increased wages and under a new schedule of overtime work.

A contract signed yesterday by the officers of the two associations and the officials of the union specified that chauffeurs, drivers and packers, who formerly received $29.70 a week, shall receive $37 a week, and helpers, formerly getting $26.40 a week, shall receive $32 a week. The men will continue to work on a nine-hour day basis. The contract will run for a year.

It was further agreed that the employees shall have a half holiday on Saturdays and shall receive double time for work on holidays and Sundays. Night work also will be paid double time. The strike settlement was a compromise, the chauffeurs, drivers and packers having demanded $40 a week, and helpers $28.

Many householders were put to a great inconvenience on account of the strike. Plans to move were interrupted. Leville J. Withrow, president of the St. Louis Furniture Movers' Association, which is composed of the largest moving and storage concerns, said that a large number of orders had accumulated and that it would take at least a week, including night work, to catch up. He said that there is more moving this year, due to people purchasing homes on account of high rents, than there had been in the past 20 years.

Thomas J. Coyne, secretary and business agent of the Furniture Movers' Union, said that the men were satisfied with the terms of settlement.

STATE PENITENTIARY REJECTS WOMAN PRISONER WITH BABY

Federal Convict From Wisconsin Rejected Admission When She Arrives With Young Child.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Margaret Barrington, convicted in a Federal Court in Wisconsin of having used the mails to defraud and sentenced to nine years' imprisonment, was refused admission to the Missouri State penitentiary here today because she had a six-months-old baby with her.

Federal women convicts are sent to the Missouri penitentiary to serve out sentences.

Under the Federal commitment, Mrs. Barrington was to take the baby to prison and keep it for six months, after which the baby was to be in the custody of the father for six months. It was to alternate for six-month periods between mother and father until the expiration of Mrs. Barrington's sentence.

The Missouri law, however, does not permit the incarceration of children in the State prison, and Attorney General McAllister declared there was nothing in the agreement between the State and the Federal Government regarding the care of Federal women prisoners which gave the Federal authorities any right to infringe upon the State statute.

The United States Deputy Marshal was directed to return to Wisconsin with his prisoner and inform the Federal Court that the baby could not be admitted to the Missouri prison. He left today with Mrs. Barrington and the baby.

WOOL CLOTH CUT 20 PER CENT

Price Reduction Less Than Expected, Due to Little Demand.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—An approximate cut of 20 per cent in wool cloth price by the American Woolen Co. was noted at the company's opening of its fall exhibit here today, according to the Textile World Journal.

The cut, said to be less than anticipated by the trade, was attributed to the fact that there has been little demand for woolen goods.

COUNTY RESIDENTS OBJECT TO NEGRO BURIAL GROUND

Adjacent Property Owners Aroused Over Conversion of Former B. H. Lang Homestead Into Cemetery.

TRACT RECENTLY BOUGHT FOR $50,000

Sale of Lots in the 75 Acres Already Begun by Corporation Formed Principally by St. Louis Lawyers.

Transformation into a negro cemetery of the 75-acre tract surrounding what formerly was the home of B. H. Lang, grain merchant, and formerly vice president of the United States Grain Corporation, on the north side of Natural Bridge road, at the Brown road, four miles west of the city limits, has aroused protests among property owners in the vicinity, according to Wilfred Schade, a custom house broker in the Century Building, whose home is on a large tract directly opposite the Lang property.

The Lang tract is now in possession of the Washington Park Cemetery Association, composed of St. Louisans, mostly lawyers. The consideration was $50,000, of which $23,000 was paid in cash and a deed of trust given for the balance.

Plans of Promoters.

Promoters of the cemetery say it is designed to provide burial places for 90,000 negroes. Three-grave lots, 9 by 18 feet, are being sold for $50, which includes the right to have the remains interred in the caskets in the expectation of the stockholders of at least $1,500,000. Choice lots and mausoleum space, to be provided later, will sell at higher prices. The $1,450,000 above the purchase price to be provided in this manner will not be all profit, as expense of arranging and maintaining the place must be deducted. The terms are open-tie, and a deed of trust in monthly payments.

The Cemetery Association, of which Andrew H. Watson, member of a firm of court reporters and process servers with offices in the Rialto Building, is president, includes among its stockholders the following:

Former United States Senator Xenophon P. Whiffey, Congressman William J. Igoe, former Circuit Attorney James E. Carroll, former Circuit Attorney Mark G. Ryan, Practicing Attorney Howard Sidener, Walter Neill, clerk of the United States District Court; former United States District Attorney Walter L. Hensley, William H. Corcoran, Watson's partner; Joseph E. Carr, cashier, Chippen Bank, and Chase Morsey, an attorney. J. O. Wilson is secretary-treasurer of the association, which has opened offices in the Central National Bank Building.

Efforts at Advertising.

Watson and his associates have advertised negro publications and have interested negro churches and lodges in inviting negroes to have services in the tract, providing special street cars to take parties to Carsonville and automobiles to take them the rest of the way.

Watson declared that these outings are orderly affairs, where members of the parties bring their lunches, and where clergymen offer prayers.

Schade said there were "plenty" and that the negroes often crossed the road, climbed up his fence and sat on his porch in his lake. He said that at the affair the next Tuesday (Labor day), under auspices of negro unions, about 1,000 persons and a band attended. At the meeting, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, of Melrose avenue and Park, was there every Thursday. She telephoned to Mrs. Fitzpatrick. The three women went to the bridge and found the Indians.

Indications of Struggle.

The slain woman lay on the bridge with a rosary tightly grasped in her right hand. This circumstance led the police to believe that there was a sufficient interval between the shooting and her final collapse for her to turn to prayer. Her clothing was disarranged as though there had been a struggle.

The robbery theory was strengthened by Mrs. Fitzpatrick's statement that Mrs. Bergin always carried money, usually bills, in her hand bag.

The articles scattered about where the hand bag was found were mostly religious pamphlets and pictures. There also was a letter addressed to Mrs. Bergin and inclosed in an envelope.

NEW EARTHQUAKE IN ITALY; 556 DEAD AFTER FIRST SHOCK

Several More Towns Wrecked by Second Shock, More Violent Than Other—Casualty List Increasing.

RELIEF WORKERS SEARCHING RUINS

Survivors, Terrified by New Shocks, Say It Seemed Like End of World—Air Filled With Black Dust.

By the Associated Press. ROME, Sept. 9.—Another violent earthquake occurred in the Emilia district at 2:35 o'clock this morning, causing the loss of lives and important damage.

The communities suffering the most were Reggio, Ospedaletti, Busana, Aoano and Cavola. This morning's shock was more violent than that of Tuesday.

The Emilia embraces the district between the Apennines and Po and is divided into the eight provinces of Placenza, Parma, Reggio, Modena, Bologna, Ferrara, Ravenna and Forli. It covers an area of some 7,200 square miles and has a population of approximately 2,500,000 persons.

Condition Is Critical.

Mullally, after emergency treatment by Dr. C. N. Guhman, of 5183 Cabanne avenue, was taken to St. John's Hospital, where it was said that the bullet entered the chest just below the heart, was deflected by the seventh rib and lodged in the liver.

Mullally's condition was very serious, but that there was a chance for his recovery. No operation would be performed at present, he said.

At the Merchants' Exchange, of which Mullally was a member, it was said today that he had been in the office Saturday morning, when he was seen by a close friend and complained of being in financial trouble and made a remark which led the friend to believe he contemplated killing himself. The friend referred to refused to discuss this subject today.

Martin Mullally Jr., one of Mullally's six children, today said his father had been nervous and irritable about a month and had worried over business affairs.

The family had been in the ruins since the shooting, and about 1,000 injured.

In nearly three score towns and villages serious damage was done and a total population of more than 10,000 rendered homeless.

Governmental and private relief agencies are aiding the survivors and searching the ruins for any victims who may still be alive, but the difficulties of reaching many of the ruined towns are great.

At Pisa the inmates of an asylum for the insane were terror-stricken and tried to escape, some succumbing.

At Lucca the dome of the Church of the Madonna Dell' Umlita, designed in the sixteenth century, fell.

At Marina, near Carrara, the roof of a church fell while the parish priest was celebrating mass. There were only a few worshippers.

Survivors described the shock as terrifying. The air was filled with choking, blinding dust, so black that the sun was lost to view.

It seemed like the end of the world," terrified peasants say.

The great towers of medieval castles were shaken, partly destroyed, seem tottering to a fall. The Doge Palace at Massa Carrara, which was the summer residence of Napoleon's sister, was seriously damaged.

The upheaval was especially terrible in the famous quarry district of Carrara, from which come the finest specimens of marble. Great rocks, dislodged by the shock, rolled down steep roads leading up to the hills, crushing everything in their path.

Worshippers Killed in Church.

A tragic and memorable scene was enacted at Marina, near Carrara, when the earthquake shattered a church where mass was being celebrated. Father Friggiotti, the parish priest, had been killed by the shock, and the people were gathered in the church to pay their respects to the deceased.

Less fortunate was Father Riccardo Bruscoletti, at Castanzavolo, who was killed while celebrating mass at Casta Nuova Carfagna.

The wife of Deputy Duogoni was among the injured.

ST. LOUIS WOMEN MUST TELL AGES WHEN REGISTERING

Commissioner Rules Laws Must Be Complied With, "Painful as It May Be."

St. Louis women who register next week for the November election will be required to tell their ages. Election Commissioner Dempsey said to-day, when informed that many women had asserted to election judges that they will refuse to tell their ages when going to register.

Some 618 of the older women make the explicit requirement that an applicant for registration in St. Louis, among other things, must tell his or her age, the theory being that this information in the hands of election officials will aid in preventing fraud.

The fact of the shooting was not discovered until an hour later by his daughter, Margaret, who went to call him for breakfast. She found her father wounded and unconscious.

Mullally had been the first to call his daughter, who had heard a noise which sounded like a shot, but thought it was the backfire of an automobile in the alley.

MACSWINEY NUMB IN ARMS; 28TH DAY OF HUNGER STRIKE

Lord Mayor of Cork Said to Have Passed Bad Night and He Again Complains of Dizziness.

WIFE URGED NOT TO TALK WITH PRISONER

She Is Told He Is Living on Vitality—Asquith Says Decision to Let Him Die Is Political Blunder.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, who is incarcerated in Brixton prison and has been on a hunger strike since Aug. 12, passed a very bad night, and complained again this morning of dizziness, according to a statement issued early this morning by the Irish Separatist League. He also experienced numbness in his arms, and a physician who attended him considered him much weaker than he was yesterday.

The Lord Mayor was visited last night by Father Patrick MacSwiney, a cousin, who said he was surprised to find the man still alive, and expressed the belief that the crisis would not come for three or four days.

After visiting Mayor MacSwiney last evening the prison doctor told his sister, Annie MacSwiney, that her brother was in a very grave condition, according to a statement issued this morning, and that there could be only one end to his condition.

The noon bulletin issued by the League stated that signs of atrophy of the skin had appeared, and that as a consequence the Mayor's arms were being massaged and bandaged.

Statement by Asquith.

Former Premier Asquith, answering an appeal from John Howard Whitehouse, former Liberal member of the House of Commons, for his intervention in behalf of MacSwiney, said:

"I think the decision to allow the Lord Mayor of Cork to die in prison is a political blunder of the first magnitude. I would gladly intervene if any appeal of mine could lead even now to wiser counsels prevailing, but I fear that the latest declaration of the Minister precludes any such hope."

Lord Howard, nephew of the late John Redmond, has written a letter to Premier Lloyd George, in which he offers himself as a hostage for Lord Mayor MacSwiney.

Condition for Release.

An inspired statement indicates that Premier Lloyd George is willing to accept guarantees from Sinn Fein headquarters that police murders will cease, and that he does not require personal guarantees from Lord Mayor MacSwiney.

If such guarantee is forthcoming, it is set forth in the statement, MacSwiney and the hunger strikers in Cork jail would be released and held as virtual hostages, and if the murders were resumed they would again be sent to jail, thus, in effect, reverting to what was called the "cat and mouse" policy adopted in the case of the suffragette hunger strikers.

INDICTMENTS ARE DISMISSED

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 9.—Indictments against the County Judges and County Clerk L. N. Farmer of Christian County, charging them with illegally issuing of warrants were dismissed yesterday afternoon in the Christian County Circuit Court by Judge C. H. Hensel of Mount Vernon. The indictments were dismissed on a technicality, the defense being sustained in a motion for dismissal on the grounds that the Circuit Judge failed to appoint a foreman for the grand jury which returned the indictments last May.

The County Judges indicted were: Wood T. Johnson, Herbert Hawkins and W. M. Johnson. They were charged with warrants to the county health official in excess of the amount due him. Farmer also was charged with failing to pay into the county treasury $556.81 which he had collected as fees.

FLIES 125 MILES IN 64 MINUTES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Carrying a crew of ten men and a 1,600-pound torpedo, a Martin bombing plane yesterday flew from Washington to Yorktown, Va., a distance of 123 miles, in 44 minutes. Naval officers declared the flight established a record for planes of that type.

The flight was made as a test of the Martin plane in connection with its use in the bombing and torpedo practice soon to be conducted with the old battleship Indiana as a target.

Treasurer Upham's Aid Tells How G. O. P. Planned Drive to Collect Campaign Funds in 54 Cities

Under Cross-Examination by Reed, Blair Makes Further Revelations on Scheme to Get Together Big Fund for Campaign.

Blair, "there is too much 'bunk' in politics. I eschewed politics until I was 43 years old, and I hereby eschew them again after November 2."

"You make that resolution after your experiences with the Republican National Committee," said Senator Reed as the committee recessed for luncheon.

In beginning his testimony today Blair presented a document believed "confidential information for regional directors" of the Republican National Committee, which read:

"The information was received in the city of Pittsburgh, Mass., and its surrounding industrial territory has produced already $31,000."

The question then turned to Ohio, but the witness said he knew little about the quota in that State. He excepted Columbus, remembering that its first quota was $65,000, but that after it had raised $5,000, the new quota was placed at $100,000.

"That is the figure Gov. Cox gave. Is it not?" asked Senator Reed.

"Well, he ought to know. He is right there in Ohio and the city quotas are public property there. This campaign is not being kept under a bush."

Blair said he discouraged underwriting of city quotas and was then asked to explain a "flash from the field" in Aug. 18 bulletins which stated: "Cincinnati business men have underwritten that city's quota the amount to be delivered by Sept. 1."

"Is that the truth?" asked the Senator. "I consider that just plain 'bull,'" said Blair.

"What's 'Bull' is Expanded Truth. 'Bull' is the difference between 'bull' and 'truth,'" pressed the Senator. "Bull is expanded truth," agreed Senator Reed, and the meeting lasted until Senator Kenyon rapped for order.

The witness said there may have been a letter from Cincinnati employing the term "underwritten," but that he did not consider such a letter something upon which money could be borrowed, and he added that such a possibility was the essence of underwriting.

Reed then questioned Blair about a luncheon in the tower room of the Union League Club here July 6. Will Hays, Republican National Chairman, was present and spoke.

"He was underwritten, and the meeting lasted until Senator Kenyon rapped for order," said Blair.

$15,000,000 Campaign Fund Would Be Good Investment for Business Men, Says Weeks

Publisher Wins Democratic Nomination for Senator in Georgia, Returns Indicate.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 9.—Incomplete returns from yesterday's State-wide Democratic primary, compiled early today by newspapers, indicated that Thomas E. Watson, publisher and once Populist candidate for President, had been nominated for United States Senator from Georgia. During the campaign Watson was outspoken in his opposition to the League of Nations and in his criticism of the Wilson administration.

Watson's opponents were Senator Hoke Smith, who was seeking renomination; a Macon attorney, John R. Cooper, a Macon attorney; John N. Hodges, one hundred and ninety-five votes; and Senator John C. Connelly, who had 150.

"While you may be restricted to $1000 on the national fund, there are absolutely no restrictions to the size of your contribution to the senatorial fund, so if you feel inclined after you have contributed $1000 to the national fund you are welcome to give any amount to the senatorial fund,"

Gov. Cox has charged, Weeks asserted, that the Republicans are raising $15,000,000 to buy the Senate. "It is necessary to give up when within three miles of the French coast,"

Coors
PURE
MALTED MILK

The Achievement of America's Master Maltster

Out in the foothills of the Rockies, Adolph Coors, the oldest living maltster, has perfected his work of 55 years. In COORS Pure Malted Milk he gives the public the most scientifically correct combination of richest, creamiest cow's milk and nutritious barley and wheat that is possible to produce.

COORS is absolutely pure. It contains neither starch nor artificial flavoring of any kind. That is why COORS is of the same creamy white color as the rich milk from which it is made. COORS is literally "as pure as it looks."

COORS is made at Golden, Colo., under ideal conditions. The pure bracing mountain air, the sparkling spring water direct from snow-capped peaks, and the glorious Colorado sunshine, all combine to keep our cows in the pink of health.

Try one bottle of COORS—it is richness, its delicious, natural flavor, and its pleasant after-taste will delight you. Easy to prepare. Keeps indefinitely.

HARDING MADE HIT
WITH A FRIENDLY
MINNESOTA CROWD

Pleasant Surprise to Republicans Who Forgave Him for Breaking Fair's Rule Not to Talk Politics.

COX WON FRIENDS AND MADE VOTES

But Senator's Reception Is Declared to Show Republicans of State Are Satisfied With Him.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1920.)
ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 9.—Senator Harding made a hit in Minnesota. Democrats who saw his reception in the Twin Cities will hardly begrudge that statement, and Republicans will privately admit that the Senator did ever so much better than they expected. He was to them a pleasant surprise—a dignified figure with plenty of human qualities to catch the imagination of a crowd ready from the outset to like him.

Comparison of the reception given Gov. Cox two days ago and that given Senator Harding is not difficult for the conditions were almost exactly the same. Both candidates talked at the same State Fair. The Democratic nominee faced a hostile crowd, the Republican nominee stood before a reverent, almost affectionate audience. They liked Harding's pictures before they saw the man; they were ready believers in his philosophy of anti-Wilsonism; they were born and bred Republicans and felt satisfied that Warren Harding came from good Republican stock and would do.

Cox Made Some Votes.

Gov. Cox, on the other hand, won friends and made some votes. He left a good impression, but as one Republican expressed it, "even George Washington couldn't carry Minnesota on the Democratic ticket this year." The Democratic nominee won more applause when he drove a horse around the race track than by his speech at the State Fair, but he did get a rousing reception when he spoke at the Auditorium at night.

Senator Harding's first experience as a national campaigner was, then, without a big success. The National Republican Committee selected a good place for the experiment. The Twin Cities are more than eager for "normalcy," and most people here who cheered Harding imagine he will bring some sort of change in economic conditions that will relieve them of present day worries.

Both Gov. Cox and Senator Harding were asked to talk politics at the State Fair. The Democratic nominee spoke of his candidacy therefore only by implication. The Republican nominee was in the hands of friends on the State Fair Board and took all sorts of liberties even to the cataloging of Republican pledges. And the crowd relished it. They understood his discourse on agricultural matters, liked the tone of his voice, liked the cut of his jib and gave him the kind of greeting that was unmistakable both in warmth and sincerity.

Captures Minneapolis.

Over in Minneapolis the Senator captured the town even more decisively. Strangers that turned out handfuls to see Warren Wilson a year ago, were packed from store to store to curb. Some of the natives say Theodore Roosevelt alone got such a reception in Minneapolis. Certainly the writer can testify that Minneapolis, while generous in its applause at Wilson meetings, never stopped work in midday to the extent that thousands of people did this time for Senator Harding.

Senators in St. Paul, in the evening, the Republican nominees stood in the State Capitol and shook hands with thousands of people. For two hours the eager Republicans waited for a chance to greet Senator Harding. It reminded one of White House receptions of ancient days, when long lines of guests waited patiently to shake the hand of the Chief Executive.

What does all mean? The writer asked. The public, a friend whose judgment isn't as partisan as his political affiliation might indicate. He said it was the desire of the people to greet a new presidential figure. Indeed, it suggested in its psychology the long-live-the-king enthusiasm which comes out of the body politic where there is a change in rulers in other lands.

Eight years is a long time for a man to be president of the United States and Minnesota's Senator Harding was that of a Republican stronghold eager to see the citadels of Government commanded again by Republican soldiers. They came prejudiced in favor of Harding and came away more than satisfied with their original judgment.

Arkansas Refuses Rail Increase.

RUSSIANS REPLY TO BALFOUR
Declare War With Poland Only Episode in Struggle for Peace.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The Russian delegation in London headed by M.

Kamenoff has published the reply of M. Tchitcherin, the Bolshevik Foreign Minister, to the last note of Arthur J. Balfour, Lord President of the Council. It is a long and argumentative document in justification of the Soviet administration. It declares that, in the face of the allied blockade of Russia, Balfour is hardly in a position to express astonishment that the Soviet Government has been unable to secure more for the well-being of the Russian people. The note reiterates that peace, in order to develop her economic possibilities, is Russia's fundamental aim, and declares that the war with Poland is only an episode in the struggle for peace.

How Part of Shipment Reached King's Highway Place.Prohibition enforcement agents are trying to learn how 10 cases out of a shipment of whisky made to Harry Levin, Deputy Constable in Justice of the Peace Miles' court, came into possession of Anselmo
Beffa, a saloon keeper at 814 North King's highway.Levin is awaiting trial on a charge of having had whisky shipped to him from Kentucky after making false representations to obtain a permit to do so. He is accused of being a liquor dealer. Federal agents thus far have recovered 540 cases of the shipment, including the 10 cases seized at Beffa's saloon. The whisky was identified by the serial numbers on the revenue stamps. A case lid bearing Levin's name was found with the whisky taken from Beffa.No warrant for Beffa's arrest has been issued and an effort is being made to induce him to tell the agents everything about the Levin shipment. He has told the agents he bought the 12 cases of the whisky from a stranger in two lots, paying $175 a case for half of it and $165 a case for the other half.Monday Movies at Plants.

There will be no attendants and the guests, numbering about 200, will include only close relatives and intimate friends. The Rev. Dr. Julian will perform the ceremony at 8 o'clock in the evening and a reception will follow. After a bridal trip the couple will reside at 203 Edgewood avenue, Kirkwood, the home being a gift from the bride's father.

Miss Curles was graduated several years ago from Mary Institute and spent some time in foreign travel. She was maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet's ball the year of her debut and has taken an active part

WOMAN KICKS TWO HOLDUP MEN OUT OF HUSBAND'S SALOON

She Assists Them Through Door After They Draw Revolvers in East St. Louis Place.

Two armed men who at 10:45 o'clock last night attempted to hold up Mike Mros, proprietor of a saloon at 545 North Sixth street, East St. Louis, were kicked from the premises by Mrs. Mros.

"I fight like a man," she explained to the police who investigated the affair. "I kick them hard when they get out the door."

The men drove up to the saloon in an automobile, and one ordered drinks. When Mros started to serve them, they drew revolvers and ordered him to hold up his hands. Mrs. Mros, who was in the saloon at the time, ran towards the men, ordering them out, and making considerable noise. The men ran to the door, but she reached there at about the same time and kicked them as they went through the opening. They escaped.

He is Chosen by Tenth District Democratic Committee to Replace Cummings.

A. Evan Hughes, 28 years old, 3530 California avenue, attorney and executive secretary of the Real Estate Exchange, who served overseas as a Lieutenant of aviation, was selected as the Democratic nominee for Congress in the Tenth District at a meeting last night in Raffo Hall, Taylor avenue and Delmar boulevard, of the Democratic Committee of that district. He will fill a vacancy on the Democratic ticket created by the resignation of Campbell Cummings, who was nominated over C. H. Force, 1720 Grove avenue, Wellston, in the August primary.

Force was placed in nomination before the committee last night, but received only 6 votes. Hughes getting 14.

Hughes, who is the son of City Committeeman W. M. Hughes of the Eleventh Ward, had been nominated for State Representative in the First District in the primary, but resigned that place last night after being nominated for Congress. W. M. Hughes, Committeeman of the First District then selected Theodore Schultz, 3630 Virginia avenue, to fill that vacancy. The Republican nominee for Congress in the Tenth is Congressman Cleveland A. Newton, re-nominated without opposition. The district normally is heavily Republican.

Cummings, in resigning from the Democratic party, said he did so in the interest of party harmony, as his views on the League of Nations and upon the Volstead act differ from those of the leaders of the party in Missouri.

Force said today that in 1916 and again in 1918 he filed for Congress in the Tenth District and then was persuaded to withdraw for other candidates.

dates, and that this year he moved into the Eleventh District and filed. Then the Tenth District Committee persuaded him to withdraw and file in the Tenth, for the purpose, Force charges, of clearing the way for Harry B. Hawes, who then was nominated without opposition in the Eleventh. After getting him into the race in the Tenth, all of the committee members, including Cummings, Force said. He declared today that he now ran as an independent in the Eleventh District against Hawes, and that he will have the support of organized labor and of the dry forces.

Upham's Assistant Testifies Field Workers Receive From $100 a Week Up, Besides Their Expenses.

DRIVE JUST BEGUN FOR $500,000 IN CHICAGO

Witness Says He Drew Up "Form 101" Which Was Disapproved Because of Increasing of Limit.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Yesterday's sessions of the senatorial committee investigating campaign expenditures, which ran into the night, were devoted largely to questioning of Harry M. Blair, assistant to Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee.

Many of the queries were directed at form 101, one of the bits of evidence offered by Gov. Cox to substantiate his claim that more than $1000 was being solicited from individuals. Blair, in his testimony, admitted that he had drawn up form 101 and approved its use, but when the Ways and Means Committee of the Republican campaign organization saw it they stamped it with the mark of disapproval. Senator H. H. Hays, Republican national chairman, had declared that contributions exceeding $1000 would not be accepted by any one person.

After the names of paid employees of Blair's organization, together with their salaries, had been obtained, Senator Reed of Missouri said: "We've established that the Republican National Committee has the most extravagant payroll that a committee has."

Closes Democratic Payroll.

Senator Edge of New Jersey interjected to read testimony of W. D. Jamieson, Democratic assistant treasurer, that the payroll of his party organization amounted to $18,000 a month. It was learned from Blair that his payroll amounted to $20,000 a month.

Many of the men have been offered from 100 to 150 per cent more for church work," Blair said. "The Interchurch World Movement offered two $250 a week each and unlimited expense accounts."

"So church organizations pay more than political organizations?" asked Senator Kenyon. "Yes," replied Blair.

The questioning also developed that the Western headquarters had no authority over seven Eastern states in which funds were raised under the direction of Col. William Boyce Thompson of New York and James G. Blaine, the Eastern treasurer.

Early in his testimony Blair said that when he undertook his duties in November, 1919, a list of state organizations had been made up calling for approximately $1,000,000. A comparison of this figure with the $3,000,000 budget presented in last week's testimony by Chairman Will Hays was brought into the proceedings and Treasurer Upham volunteered from the audience that Blair knew nothing about the manner in which the money he collected was to be disbursed.

The witness stated lately that the proposal to increase the limit of individual contributions to $1000 was the only reason for the disapproving of form 101. He said his plans contemplated no secrecy in fund collecting, but characterized as "a campaign expedient" an instruction in the form warning against leaving papers relating to fund drives on the tables after a luncheon attended by those engaged in the work.

Asked how successful his drive for funds had been, Blair said that between Dec. 1, 1919, and June 12, 1920 (the pre-convention period) cash and pledges amounted to $1,700,000. From June 12 to Sept. 7 he said the total was $1,200,000.

"Did you ever hear of a $15,000.00 fund?" asked Senator Spencer. "I never did until I read the Cox Pittsburg speech."

Blair explained to Senator Kenyon that consistent efforts had been made to avoid receiving pledges from large interests which might afterward withdraw from Congress.

"We made no attempt whatever to get contributions from officers of corporations as such," said Blair.

"As such what?" asked Senator Reed. "We went to them in their capacity as individual citizens and not as officers of corporations."

"You mean you went to the individual officer of the corporations and not to the corporations themselves," rejoined the Missouri Senator.

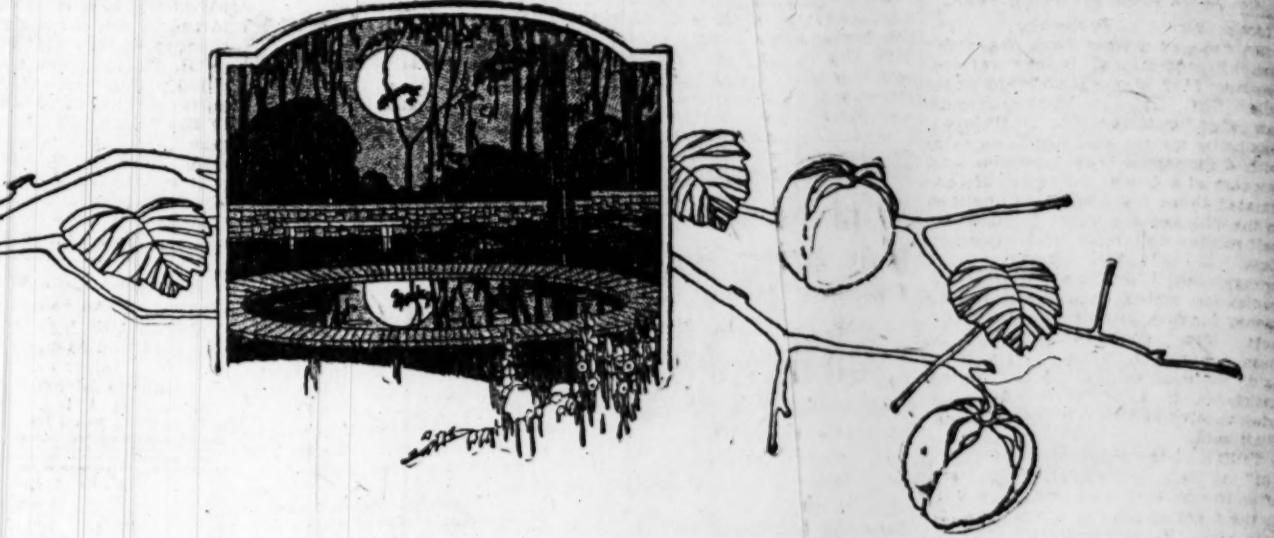

Classics With Reed.

Friction between Senator Reed and Blair broke out at the night session, when the young Senator accused the witness of being insolent. Senator Reed's ire was aroused when Blair asked what his salary as assistant to Upham was, replied: "Six hundred dollars a month. I have no perquisites, as Senators do."

"Do you know of any perquisites Senators have, since you are so insolent?" Senator Reed asked. "Let me tell you something. You are a witness here and you are going to answer me like a gentleman."

Blair told the committee that his assistants were paid from $100 to $600 a week. Chicago, New York and several other cities each has an individual director, he said.

Do you awake dull, tired, and wanting more sleep?

If you wake up morning after morning feeling the need of more sleep, you cannot hope to overcome this handicap to health solely by going to bed earlier and getting up later. Another important consideration is involved.

You must look to the needs of bodily comfort as related to the cell and tissue renewing function which must go on unmolested within the body during sleep. Your mattress must be more than comfortable to the touch; it must be suited to the body, otherwise it can impair the function of sleep without your realizing it.

The Sealy Sanitary Tuftless Mattress is designed to give the outer body that specific kind of comfort most favorable to the functions of the inner body. It is not only remarkable in this, but also because neither time nor use can impair its original sleep-aiding qualities.

Good Health Requires Relaxful Slumber

The Sealy Sanitary Tuftless Mattress is primarily a mattress of pronounced undulating qualities.

It possesses the facility to rise up and "fill in" the arches of the back in a manner not possible to the commonplace mattress. Likewise, it "gives" with such ease of resistance under the weight of the body at the hips and shoulder as to relieve undue pressure against the body at these prominent points.

These advantages are recognized fundamentals of relaxing sleep upon which the functional processes of sleep are dependent. The contact between the Sealy and the body is uniform and natural throughout.

The unbroken, smooth Tuftless surface of the Sealy wins favor the instant you pass your hand across it.

This pronounced characteristic is not only noteworthy in itself, but also because it is a permanent attribute.

The Sanitary Tuftless Sealy never really grows old, due to the fact that it is a single bat of long fibre cotton inseparably interwoven by the Exclusive Sealy Air Weave Process.

This batt originally stands five feet high. It is finally pressed down, inserted into and released within the covering to the required depth and softness of the mattress.

The custom, inaugurated by the Sealy Mattress Company nearly a half century ago, of using only the highest grade cotton available is today rigorously maintained.

UPHAM'S ASSISTANT TELLS OF SALARIES PAID TO G. O. P. COLLECTORS

Chicago director, Frederick G. Blair, head of a New York organization of professional money raisers, receives $600 a week and his horses, The Chicago money-raising campaign, with $500,000 as its goal, was being started last night. He is with a dinner of team captains at a downtown hotel. He estimated there were 600 men engaged in the Chicago campaign to raise the half million dollars in 10 days. He believed that the proposal would be approved, and when it was turned down "for fear there might be a slip somewhere, I wired to my office assistant to see to it that my gional directors do not issue any bulletins."

Blair said later a substitute measure was promulgated and form "101" was suspended.

"We are ever sent out to be used as workers with your knowledge sent out by Mr. Upham," he said. "I know of?" asked Senator Kenyon. "Notably not."

Would "Capitalized" Publicity.

Blair said the treasurer's office had virtually no expense for printing thus far, but was planning to "capitalized" the advertising given the official bulletin by Gov. Cox and thousands of copies of it.

"You think your bulletin has been pretty well advertised?" Senator Kenyon asked. "Gov. Cox has had it greatest advertisement that any pretentious publication that was put out has ever had," Blair joined. "It is getting quite a national reputation and we are going to capitalize it."

SIX INJURED IN AUTO
CRASHES DURING STORM

Miss Whirled Curtis, 26 years old, of 2607 Arkansas avenue, and Adolph Klutu, 59, of 3113 California avenue, were cut on the head and face when an automobile driven by Miss Curtis collided with the rear end of a truck of the Independent Fixture Co. when it became stalled on Seventh street and Russell avenue during the heavy rain at 5:40 p. m. yesterday. Miss Curtis told the police she saw the outline of the truck through the rain on her windshield, but thought it was moving.

Vito Pazzolo, 57, and Jasper Pinto, 24, of 1314 Blair avenue, were thrown from a wagon driven by Pazzolo when it was overtaken by an automobile driven by David Atteberry, 41, Tower Grove place, at King's Highway and Daggett avenue during the storm. Atteberry told the police the wagon turned directly in the path of his machine and owing to the wet streets he was unable to stop in time to avoid a collision. At the city hospital Pazzolo was said to be suffering from fractured nose, internal injuries and a probable fracture of the skull. Pinto was cut and bruised.

Henry Hemphill, 13, of 1221 Carroll street, suffered scalp wounds and cuts and bruises when a mail truck driven by William J. Hogan, 1727 Dolman street, struck him at Gratiot and Hickory streets. In attempting to stop the truck on the wet street it skidded completely around.

Charles H. Lindsay, 36, of 5864 Delmar boulevard, suffered fractured ribs and scalp wounds when his automobile was struck by an automobile of the Cole Motor Co., 2926 Locust street, at Leonard avenue and Locust street during the storm.

George Quigley, 57, of 2924 North Taylor avenue, chauffeur of a truck, and George Kotsopoulos, 2200 Merton street, a passenger on a Beloitfontaine car, were both cut and bruised at 4 p. m. when the car "split" a switch at Twelfth street and Clark avenue and wrecked the truck.

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES URGED TO JOIN FEDERATION OF LABOR

Resolution Adopted at Third Day's Session of Association at Planters Hotel.

A resolution urging all locals of the National Federation of Federal Employees to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor bodies in their respective localities was adopted by the convention of Federal employees yesterday in their third day's session at the Planters Hotel.

The action of the convention followed a talk by Luther C. Steward, president of the federation, who cited specific instances in which the aid of President Gompers and Secretary Morrison of the A. F. L. had been of great value to the Federal employees organization.

The salary of the president was raised by the convention from $4000 to $6000 a year. The convention will close today with the election of officers.

At last!
Mars has spoken!

YOUNG HIRAM Jinks.

HAD TRIED for weeks.

TO TALK to Mars.

BY WIRELESS.

HE'D POUNDED his key.

CALLING "MARS. Hello, Mars."

UNTIL HIS right biceps.

WAS THE village pride.

HE HARDLY dared to sleep.

LEST HE miss the call.

AND SAY, one evening.

HE GOT an answering buzz.

"YEP, THIS is Mars."

AND HIRAM shook all over.

AND STUTTERED back in Morse.

"HAVE YOU any word.

FOR US on Earth?"

QUICK CAME the answer.

"YOU CAN tell the world.

THEY SAY IT!" Then silence.

HIRAM RAN to the corner store.

AND SHOUTED in triumph.

"A MESSAGE from Mars!

YOU CAN tell the world.

THEY SAY IT!"

BUT THE village elders.

MERELY SNORTED "Shucks, KNOWN THAT for years."

WHILE OUT in the army camp.

THE RADIO man.

WHO'D BEEN kidding Hiram.

THREW AWAY his butt.

AND LAUGHED himself to sleep.

B-U-Z-Z-Z. Listen to this one! Chesterfields "satisfy," and yet they're mild. With body enough to "satisfy" even a cigar smoker, Chesterfields are mild enough to suit even the most finicky cigarette smoker. That's some combination!—and this unique blend can't be copied.

'LITTLE OLD NEW YORK'
CARRIES AUDIENCE AWAY

Genevieve Tobin's Acting Chief Factor in Success of Play of Century Ago.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—It is hard to understand what it was in "Little Old New York" that got such a tight grip on last night's audience at the Plymouth. Was it Genevieve Tobin, who was acting a little Irish imposter who had come to the New York of a century and a decade ago to claim a fortune that had been left to her dead brother? Or was it the odd conceits and amazing little strokes that Eddie Johnson Young had put into the play itself? Whatever it was, "Little Old New York" gave its first audience an enjoyable evening.

"We are inclined to believe it was Miss Tobin's pretty performance of the reluctant masterpiece in boys' dress that was mainly responsible for the great glow which the critics felt. The piece itself, while it had some diverting scenes, was as transparent as a pane of glass, and as fragile as a piece of cotton string. It was set in interior scenes, and many opportunities for picturesqueness were thereby lost. Occasionally also it was quite stalled in its dialogue, after Mrs. Young's familiar style.

But it also had clever touches likewise. Mrs. Young's familiar style, the thin-skinned characters of the past were amusing in the light of the present. There was young Cornelius Vanderbilt, who was doing a thriving business with his Staten Island Ferry. He was carrying as many as seven or eight passengers a day. John Jacob Astor was a rather pompous old person who had begun to dicker in real estate. He owned 20 houses in Wall street and was thinking of turning Gramercy Park into a park somewhere to the north of New York. Peter Delmon-

Narrowly Escapes Arrest. For this he (or she) was going to be arrested by John Jacob Astor, who was the chairman of the Common Council. But she pleaded so sweetly, so convincingly, so sympathetically that he forgave her. By that time Delevan had discovered that he loved her and the fortune she claimed, as well as she was.

We will not call Miss Tobin a prodigy. She is not quite brilliant enough for that. She also has a good deal to learn. But she is a great actress, a great personality.

Watching her pretty performance last night, our memory went back to another young actress who had a somewhat similar effect upon us—a great many—when we refuse to say exactly how many—years ago. She was Maude Adams.

Ernest Glendinning, Douglas J. Wood, Albert Andrus, Charles Kennedy and Frank Charlton were some of the others who assisted in a night that belonged distinctly to Miss Tobin.

HUERTA GRANTS 75 PER CENT INCREASE TO RAIL STRIKERSRefused to Remove Manager—Train Operation in Mexico Expected to Be Normal Today.

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 9.—A railroad strike which virtually stopped traffic on the National Lines for eight hours yesterday was settled last evening, when Provisional President Huerta granted three of the four demands presented by the strikers. It is expected train operation throughout the republic will be normal today.

Not a single train moved during the period of the strike, with the exception of those over the British-owned route between this city and Vera Cruz. The strikers secured recognition of the Engineers' and Firemen's Union, with a 75 per cent wage increase; a promise that all pending wage disputes would be adjusted. The provisional President refused to accede to the demand for the removal of Francisco Perez, who was recently named general manager of the National Lines.

Announcement was likewise made that virtually all the demands of the strikers in cotton mills, tobacco factories and shoe manufacturers in the Federal district and Mexico City had been granted, and that the strikers had returned to work.

The dispatches said all cotton mill workers in the states of Vera Cruz, Tlaxcala and Pueblo had declared a strike. A widespread walkout of agricultural workers in the State of Michoacan also was reported.

'LITTLE OLD NEW YORK'
CARRIES AUDIENCE AWAY

Genevieve Tobin's Acting Chief Factor in Success of Play of Century Ago.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—It is hard to understand what it was in "Little Old New York" that got such a tight grip on last night's audience at the Plymouth. Was it Genevieve Tobin, who was acting a little Irish imposter who had come to the New York of a century and a decade ago to claim a fortune that had been left to her dead brother? Or was it the odd conceits and amazing little strokes that Eddie Johnson Young had put into the play itself? Whatever it was, "Little Old New York" gave its first audience an enjoyable evening.

"We are inclined to believe it was Miss Tobin's pretty performance of the reluctant masterpiece in boys' dress that was mainly responsible for the great glow which the critics felt. The piece itself, while it had some diverting scenes, was as transparent as a pane of glass, and as fragile as a piece of cotton string. It was set in interior scenes, and many opportunities for picturesqueness were thereby lost. Occasionally also it was quite stalled in its dialogue, after Mrs. Young's familiar style.

But it also had clever touches likewise. Mrs. Young's familiar style, the thin-skinned characters of the past were amusing in the light of the present. There was young Cornelius Vanderbilt, who was doing a thriving business with his Staten Island Ferry. He was carrying as many as seven or eight passengers a day. John Jacob Astor was a rather pompous old person who had begun to dicker in real estate. He owned 20 houses in Wall street and was thinking of turning Gramercy Park into a park somewhere to the north of New York. Peter Delmon-

Narrowly Escapes Arrest. For this he (or she) was going to be arrested by John Jacob Astor, who was the chairman of the Common Council. But she pleaded so sweetly, so convincingly, so sympathetically that he forgave her. By that time Delevan had discovered that he loved her and the fortune she claimed, as well as she was.

We will not call Miss Tobin a prodigy. She is not quite brilliant enough for that. She also has a good deal to learn. But she is a great actress, a great personality.

Watching her pretty performance last night, our memory went back to another young actress who had a somewhat similar effect upon us—a great many—when we refuse to say exactly how many—years ago. She was Maude Adams.

Ernest Glendinning, Douglas J. Wood, Albert Andrus, Charles Kennedy and Frank Charlton were some of the others who assisted in a night that belonged distinctly to Miss Tobin.

Bond Issue Nov. 2.

St. Louis business men are to be asked to subscribe to a campaign fund to promote the passage of the proposed $60,000,000 State bond issue for highway construction, to be voted upon at the election Nov. 2. It is desired to raise enough in the city to take care of the campaign here, and in addition to raise $50,000 in the city for the State campaign.

The need for the adoption of the $60,000,000 highway bond was luncheon given by the Chamber of Commerce at the Missouri Athletic Association yesterday. Speakers were President Carter of the chamber, Harry B. Ilawes and Raymond A. Walsh.

HALL'S ACTING FEATURE OF NEW LINCOLN PLAY

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—It would be difficult for any playwright, no matter how inexperienced, to write a play around the character of Abraham Lincoln which would not have its moments of dignity and grandeur. The intensely dramatic period of the Civil War, Lincoln's rugged honesty, kindly heart and clearness of vision are sufficient to win for any author, in advance, both the respectful attention and the sympathy of any audience.

Thomas Dixon, author and producer of "A Man of the People," which was given its New York premier at the Bijou Theater Tuesday night, should be grateful for this as whatever merits the latest Lincoln play has are due more to the dead emancipator than to the playwright.

Dixon in the past has shown himself skillful in the selection of dramatic material and a master in the art of appealing to the emotions of his audiences. In "A Man of the People," he shows Lincoln at a crucial period in his career. Grant is apparently beaten before Richmond. Sherman has not yet taken Atlanta. The Republican National Committee has insulted the Chief Executive by asking him to withdraw as a candidate for second term, and the fortunes of the North appear at their lowest ebb.

It would seem that the vindication of Lincoln's judgment, the news of Sherman's triumph and the President's victory over the political forces opposed to him would be sufficiently dramatic for one play, but Dixon has added the element of an convincing love story, in which a girl, a friend of Mrs. Lincoln's, and a young Union Captain are the principals; a highly theatrical secret meeting between Lincoln and Gen. McClellan, at which the President offers to retire from the campaign and see that the General is elected in his place, if the latter will pledge himself to see that the Union is not divided and to combat the rebels. In the scene McClellan is made to talk like a spoiled schoolboy.

The outstanding feature of the evening was the excellent acting of Howard Hall as Lincoln. Hall played the difficult role with admirable dignity and self-restraint and was immensely superior to the play. With the exception of Claude H. Clark as the President's secretary, W. J. Brady, as Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, and John C. Hickey as Thaddeus Stevens, the majority of the supporting cast was worse than mediocre.

PLAN COMMISSION ADVISES NEW SITE FOR CITY MORGUE

Old Four Courts and City Hall Tracts Held to Be Too Valuable for Use for New Building.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment received today from the City Plan Commission through its chairman, E. J. Russell, an answer to its request for the Plan Commission's advice on the location of the new morgue, for which $6,000 was voted in the bond issue.

The commission advises against using part of the old Four Courts or old city hall sites, for the reason that the ground is too valuable in each case as a complete tract for part of it to be used for a municipal morgue building.

It is advised to have the morgue remain somewhere near the present location, at Twelfth and Spruce streets, the commission suggests that a separate piece of property of about 100x200 feet be acquired near the group of municipal buildings, on Clark avenue or Fourteenth street, but warns that the cost will be greater than the amount provided in the bond issue.

If it is to be in the central group, the commission recommends that instead of a separate building, accommodation be provided by reconstructing the pathological building, which could be done for the sum which was voted.

FLOYERS SENT TO MILLARD BY NURSE FRIEND IN SEDALIA

Girl Says She Knows Alleged Slayer of Clayton Officers and Believes
He Is Innocent.

The Rosalie who recently sent flowers to the city hospital for Wilson, Millard and Parr, and was holding two peace officers at Clayton Aug. 30, is Miss Rosalie Steinwald, a nurse, according to a telegram received today from Sedalia, where she lives. In an interview there she said she had known him several years, had never known him to do anything dishonorable and was firm in her belief in his innocence.

At the city hospital today it was said Miss Rosalie had shown great improvement, though there was still a slight tendency to pleurisy. An X-ray examination of his wound showed that he was shot only once in his encounter with the officers and that the bullet did not remain in his body.

The St. Louis County grand jury, it is said, is about ready to return indictments against Millard and his companions, George V. Parr and David Burke.

MERCHANT MARINE STATUTE INVOKED IN DAMAGE SUIT

Case of Infant Children Against Packet Company for Death of Mother On in U. S. Court.

A statute passed by Congress 70 years ago to foster a merchant marine was invoked in the United States District Court today in the case of two infant children, of Mrs. Nora R. Robertson, who lost her life when the Tennessee River Packet Co.'s steamer "Louis" struck a snag and sank in the Mississippi River, 22 miles south of St. Louis, Sept. 2, 1918.

Through their guardian, E. B. Samuels, the children sued to recover damages for the death of their mother. Judge Faris stated that the evidence showed the accident was due entirely to negligence of the crew. The disaster occurred at night, but evidence showed that the snag had been visible above the surface of the water for many weeks before, or according to some witnesses, for several months.

The Court held, however, that under the Federal statute the plaintiffs were entitled to recover only a share of the passenger fares and freight charges of that particular trip, in addition to the salvage from the wreck. These items amounted altogether to $400.

As there are many other claims against the company on account of the wreck, including those arising from the loss of freight, court attaches estimated that the children would recover only a pittance, possibly the amount of their mother's fare.

At the same time it was revealed that the company collected $22,500 insurance on the loss of the steamer. The Court held that this sum was exempt from all claims arising from the wreck.

STATE LAW OF NO AVAIL.
There is a Missouri State statute providing that in case of loss of life resulting from the negligence of any steamboat employee the company shall, as far as possible, pay not less than $2000 nor more than $10,000, according to the discretion of the jury before which the heirs bring suit.

The "St. Louis" was wrecked within 150 yards of the Missouri bank, but Judge Faris held that the Federal statute not only supersedes the State law, but forbids bringing any action in the State courts. Action was taken on a decision upon a ruling of the United States Supreme Court, in 1886, in the case of the steamer City of Norwalk, which was sunk with considerable loss of life.

The Supreme Court held, said Judge Faris, that the insurance on the steamer constituted no part of the owner's interest in the ship or its freight, within the meaning of the law, and did not enter into the amount for which the owner could be held liable for damages.

PAID SHIPWRECKERS.
The statute was passed at a time when the merchant marine was languishing, and was designed to encourage shipowners by limiting the amount for which they might be held liable in case of loss of life and property. The law provides that in case of any loss of life or injury, "incurred without the privity or knowledge" of the owner, the liability for damages shall, in no case, exceed the value of the interest of the owner in the vessel and in her freight when she sank.

"Under the law," said Judge Faris, "the liability of the owner is limited to the value of passenger fares and freight charges on the trip in question, and to the salvage from the wreck. The owner complied with the law, in that the steamer was in a seaworthy condition, had a crew of full complement, and in all other respects properly left her dock."

For further protection to shipowners, it was enacted the ancient law carries with it an injunction preventing any one with claims from suing in any but the Federal courts.

The apportionment of the sum of $400 among the claimants is in the hands of U. S. Commissioner Mitchell, who has not made a report.

Hair Curling Troubles
Are Over—Read This!

Have you heard about the newest way to keep the hair in curl? If not, by all means, cut out these simple directions and try this wonderful method. Procure a new toothbrush and a few ounces of plain liquid almond oil from your druggist. Dip the brush in the oil and with the brush to moisten the hair from root to tip just before doing it up. You will be quite astonished when you find you have such lovely, soft, shiny hair, appearing altogether natural. Instead of having been artificially acquired. Best of all, the waviness will last very much longer than it would otherwise.

It will have more "body" and fullness than where the drying, singeing, hair-rollers, for miles, have been used. It is equally desirable as for men, as for women. It is a money-refundable remedy by your own druggist. Cost a trifle. Please try it!

NEW YORK BONDS

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—It soon became clear as business started this morning that there was no significance whatever to yesterday's decline, and that it was just one of the downward turns that is to be expected in a narrow trading market where there had been a bit too much confidence on the long side.

When the professionals who had switched to a bearish position found that there were no real stocks coming out, they became anxious to cover their contracts, and in order to do that had to bid up prices a point or more in the speculative leaders before obtaining any sort of a market for the preponderance of sentiment through the street had continued to be a market position.

On the basis of this reaction, and this optimism was quick to show as prices stood up in the market, there had been a very unpleasant experience on the previous day, and had not been able to extricate itself. Today, under the urging of the railway shares in their month's advance, following the rate decision given on the part of the stock market, too general a position had been able to exploit this technical weakness with some success.

United Fruit and A. I. C.

United Fruit furnished the sensation of the day in a violent upward movement. The buying was based on the reports that, due to the company's enormous earnings, there was a possibility that a cash dividend of at least $1.50 a share would be declared very shortly. United Fruit is the only member of the shipping stocks which has not suffered a severe break in the market. While the other members of this group were breaking wide open, United Fruit had stood up like a rock. This is due to the fact that the company has profited greatly from the high prices for fruit in its fruit business, while its shipping has been for some time past been a secondary consideration. United Fruit has declared extra dividends in cash from time to time, and these extra cash would simply be carried out a policy which has long been adhered to. Now as to American International Corporation, however, it is known to be big holder of United Fruit. In some quarters of its holdings has been added to in the neighborhood of 50,000 shares. It can readily be seen that a good sized cash dividend will be a loss of cash into the treasury of American International. Also it can be said that what is termed as the very best buy in buying has been given in A. I. C. for some time past and the floating supply of this stock is gradually being absorbed.

Mexican Petroleum.

The exclusive statement made in this column on Tuesday that the Mexican Petroleum Co. had increased its holdings of Mexican oil lands was borne out every detail in the announcement made by the president of the company today. Mexican Petroleum has practically doubled its oil land holdings which were considered large before the present deal was put through.

Mexican Issues Strong.

The special strength in the bonds and stocks of all properties interested in Mexico was even more pronounced today than it was on previous days. A quiet interview with the president of the Mexican Petroleum Co. on Tuesday reflected a better feeling around the ring. This evidently reflected the more bullish average credit position in the market for stocks and a more optimistic view of the trade prospects in the demand for cotton goods to account for the no definite progress made by the textile trade for the last few months. The textile trade has just had a slight revival of demand this winter will lead to a resumption of mill activity. The continued unfavorable weather, and it is not known whether the new crop which should be published within the next few days will be good enough to run the mills for the first half of September.

The early market showed a strong tendency after recent advances and further Southern buying. It is stated that all the Federal cotton lands containing oil were exploited, the Government's share of 16 per cent, which it proposed to keep for itself, will prove enough to run the mills for the first half of September.

The market showed a strong tendency after recent advances and further Southern buying. It is stated that all the Federal cotton lands containing oil were exploited, the Government's share of 16 per cent, which it proposed to keep for itself, will prove enough to run the mills for the first half of September.

The Bond Market.

The feature of the bond market was the strength of the Mexican Government bonds, issues during the report of more severe political conditions south of the Rio Grande. These bonds, which have been going up for several days, made an additional gain of 4 per cent getting up to the 5 per cent, which was 35 at one time yesterday, selling at 41 1/4. New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Co. continued to demand the railway second preferred, which was at 95 1/2, at which figure they were up 1/4 points from their low and within a half point of their issue price. This rise was sympathetic to the 5 per cent, which was 35 at one time yesterday, selling at 41 1/4. The bond market was also made itself in railway issues of the type of St. Louis & San Francisco and the Canadian securities accompanying the improvement in Canadian exchange.

Traction bonds were also making the rise in the market. The 7 per cent equipment bonds, like the Pennsylvanias and Louisvilles & Nashvilles were not affected by the competition of the Government issue.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with only passing, never always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Luxury or Necessity?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Have read with interest the article in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch on "Auto-Cost Public Almost as Much as the Railroads." The writer believes that this article is very misleading and that the figures shown on their face that they are most inaccurate. The figures show the investment in automobile to be slightly over $9,000,000,000 and the total cost of operation, maintenance and depreciation to be slightly over $6,000,000,000 per annum. If this were true it would mean that every owner of an automobile spent two-thirds of his first cost per year to maintain it.

The article gives the impression that railroad operation is all necessary and automobile operation mostly luxury. Most automobiles are so-called pleasure cars, but at least 80 per cent of the cost of operating these automobiles is chargeable to their use. How about the vast sum that is saved by automobile owners in railroad fares, carfare, time and health?

The writer believes that if all due credit were given to the automobile for its saving to the automobile public and all just charges made against the railroads for their expense as luxuries, it would be found that there is no more spent on automobiles for pure luxury than there is on the railroads.

L. B. TEBBETTS.

"They Only Knew."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
If you people who go to the movies and other places of amusement knew how we poor people in the different hospitals would appreciate your company for a short hour and how we would enjoy an orange or apple or a book or paper to read, and if you would only stop and think, we would be more considerate of you. Of course we are treated nicely, and some of us are thankful to our Creator that we are as well provided for as we are, but after all, we are human beings, and would be glad to see any of you visiting here. If you can't visit us but once a week, we will be glad to meet you, whether you are rich or poor, Catholic or Protestant, atheist or sinner, and the opinion of a great many of us judging from the way you visit us, the Christians in and around St. Louis are thin settled.

A CITY HOSPITAL PATIENT.

Dozen's Trust Mr. Harding.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Candidate Harding has demonstrated to the satisfaction of not only the partisan Democratic voter, but also many Progressive Republicans, that he is one of the most astute political acrobats in the history of American politics. What the people of other nations think, with the exception of Germany, Russia, Bulgaria and Turkey, must be a feeling of contempt for a political party that has accepted and wishes to put into practical effect the political program of that Prussian autocrat who was born with such brutal effort to rule all nations of the world. How any citizen who is familiar with American history, as well as the experience of the world war, can place any faith in Candidate Harding and the senatorial oligarchy in assuring peace at home, not alone the good will of other nations, is beyond any reasonable presumption, if we accept the statements of Mr. Harding as the "candidate of the senatorial oligarchy." In his speech of acceptance Mr. Harding said: "We did not go to war to save the world, we went to war to safeguard America." Now, if the American people did not go to war to make the world safe for democracy, someone lied to the American people, as well as to the men who fought the glorious fight for liberty and justice.

President Wilson, in his war message to Congress, solemnly warned Congress in these words, which our country in spirit should remember, that "we must not destroy and can't repair, but human life can never be restored." This is the man the profiteers would destroy, but the free-born American citizen will repudiate these assassins of truth, justice and liberty with such a moral vengeance this coming election that all nations will realize we do not distrust people of other countries, nor are we living in fear of the League of Nations, like the cowardly Prussian autocrat and the senatorial oligarchy.

Objects to Speed of Films.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Permit me to register a protest against the speed at which films are run in our movie theaters. I am a movie fan. When I attend a picture show I become disgusted when the very best acting is spoiled by running the film so fast that the actors seem to be in a race to look ridiculous.

The owner of the theater should pause to save the people's eyesight, film dancing all over the curtain is working a terrible injury to the eyesight of the public, especially the children.

ED BOWMAN.

WHEN PROPERTY ISN'T PROPERTY.

The thesis that the law is a progressive science is still to be maintained, despite the acquittal of Richard McCulloch on the ground that burglary with intent to steal referendum petitions is not burglary with intent to steal property.

Time and again we have seen progressive courts enlarge the old general concepts of the law to cover changed conditions arising out of human progress. Perhaps it is inaccurate to say that the old concepts themselves were changed. An admirable thing about them is that we seem to be able to grasp precisely what the old law writers were driving at, even when their ideas were framed somewhat faultily. With added experience we merely acquire the ability to define old and unaltered concepts more happily and accurately.

With the world's present economic sense and perception of economic meanings, anything on which labor is expended, to which labor gives a new or more definite usefulness than it had in its original form, acquires value, except, of course, in those rare cases in which the labor may be so expended as to be wasted. Much labor was devoted to these referendum petitions. They were advanced by such labor toward a stage where a very large usefulness attached to them.

But the general bearing of the investigating committee is unsatisfactory. The members are not conducting themselves as an official board, concerned only with performing its duty to the public by bringing forth all the information possible as to campaign funds. Senator Spencer's attitude towards Mr. Moore, for instance, was so offensive as to bring forth a sharp reprimand from the witness. Senator Kenyon of Iowa, chairman of the committee, appeared yesterday almost as a guardian for one of the witnesses. Bickerings and clashes between the Republican and Democratic members have been frequent. Each side has openly registered joy at a point scored on the other. All this would be natural enough if the Senators comprising the investigating committee were engaged in partisan service. They are not. They are public servants, hired and paid by the public. Those Senators are on the public payroll, not on a party payroll. It is their duty to serve the public, regardless of how either party is affected.

"Cost of replacement," as a basis of values coming within the definition of property—very important property it is, too—is recognized in the same department of law. Was the "cost of replacement" of the referendum petitions to be wholly ignored?

But, of course, the definition of property occupies only a collateral place in the court's logic. The lamentably weak spot in the argument is found at the point where the definition is applied.

It seems incredible that these Senators can have forgotten the vitally important work they are to do. Their deportment, however, invites a reminder, and the reminder is this: Gov. Cox, the Democratic candidate, has charged the Republican campaign management with a conspiracy to buy the presidency. It is for the Senate Investigating Committee to establish the truth or falsity of that charge. It is a most solemn responsibility. It cannot be met by a partisan probe.

OUR NEWEST AMATEURS OF POLITICS.

Many elections similar to University City's have, of course, been held in the suffrage states. At the first test, however, of suffrage by virtue of the amendment in the case of an office of high visibility and in a stubbornly contested election of striking features, this special election for a Mayor had at least some distinctive interest.

The election, judges, named before Tennessee's vote, was all men, but women shared, in some cases almost monopolized, all other election activities in which Missouri men previously had had an exclusive part. They made preliminary canvasses of territories, spread propaganda with astonishing success, got out the vote, served workers about the polls, voted in wholly unexpected numbers. They fell naturally and generally with much feminine grace into these new and unaccustomed roles. Their own interest and the interest they stimulated in others made it the most intensive campaign conducted in years in any St. Louis County municipality and brought out a total of 3054 in this town of about 6900 people, only a few failing to visit the polls. If they felt dismay at first at the consequences of taking sides against friends, they speedily dispelled the feeling and became spirited fighters. Their influence on the result of the unusually full expression is conceded to have been decisive. Possibly woman did not want the vote, as some who pretended to know her wishes asserted. Nevertheless, many aged ladies went delightedly to deposit their ballot.

The suspicion crossed some anxious masculine minds that before many years women will be taking the dominating part in politics, as compared with men. The average woman has much more time for political activities—perhaps greater facility in them—than the average man. The average woman of much leisure will find the field more appealing and satisfying than club work, card playing or even the charity work of purely routine nature.

If obviously amateurs in politics, the University City women got results.

NO PARTISAN PROBE.

The Senate committee to investigate finances may find itself the subject of investigation. Its deportment is not reassuring. In the last 48 hours some important facts have been developed. We have seen the famous "cities list" introduced by Gov. Cox in his Pittsburgh speech, partly verified. The Cleveland quota of $400,000, for instance, has been certified to by Mr. Blossom, Director of Public Welfare in that city. Atlanta's quota of $25,000 has been acknowledged as correct by Mr. McClure, a prominent Georgia Republican, to whom a messenger from Treasurer Updike came with instructions on collecting.

In Chicago a drive for $500,000 appears to be all set and ready to go, wholly undeterred by the presence of the committee. There is no limit in Missouri, Mr. Dickey says. And from Mr. Blair, first assistant to Treasurer Updike, information has been given as to the large and high-salaried staff of "money diggers" employed throughout the country by the Republican campaign management.

But the general bearing of the investigating committee is unsatisfactory.

The members are not conducting themselves as an official board, concerned only with performing its duty to the public by bringing forth all the information possible as to campaign funds.

Senator Spencer's attitude towards Mr. Moore, for instance, was so offensive as to bring forth a sharp reprimand from the witness. Senator Kenyon of Iowa, chairman of the committee, appeared yesterday almost as a guardian for one of the witnesses.

Bickerings and clashes between the Republican and Democratic members have been frequent. Each side has openly registered joy at a point scored on the other.

All this would be natural enough if the Senators comprising the investigating committee were engaged in partisan service. They are not.

They are public servants, hired and paid by the public.

THE CAPTAIN'S YOUNGEST

by FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT.

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

UT at last so much was said by outsiders that something came to the Captain's ears that must have roused him, for one evening he came up to the house in a towering rage, and shut himself up with Miss Rose and her mother in the parlor, and has a tremendous row, and makes them both cry, and ends up by forbidding them to speak to Roscoe again.

But though Miss Dalgety gave in, as she always did when the Captain gave his orders, of course, Miss Rose would not believe anything against her lover. Things had gone so far by that time that she would have stood out for him against the world; and as she dared not openly disobey her father, she fretted until she lost her pretty color and bright spirits, and went about the house looking ill and wretched.

But the master was not put an end to, as you may imagine. Once or twice, in going from the house to the barracks, I found Capt. Basil Rose loitering about not far from the street's end, and more than once I could have sworn that I passed him at dusk with a familiar little figure clinging to his arm. And one night Miss Rose calls her brother to her, as he was going out on an errand, and, as she bends over him in the doorway, slips a note into his hand, crying pitifully.

"You will take that for me, won't you, dear?" she says. "He is waiting in the square for it, and he does want it so--so much." And she kisses him, and gives a little sob and runs upstairs.

I don't think it could have been more than three minutes after that when he comes to me, all pale and breathless with running, and lays that there note on the table.

"She wants me to take it to him, Rabbett," he says, "and she was crying when she asked me, 'What must I do?'

It is not to be expected as we two hadn't talked things over, being the friends we were. I got up and took the note from the table, making a resolution all of a sudden.

"If you'll stay here, sir," I said, "I'll take it myself." And take it I did, and found the rascal waiting, as Miss Rose had said he would be. He gave a black enough scowl when he saw it was me, and it certainly didn't die out when I spoke to him.

"Sir," says I, "I've come here on a poor errand, and I've come unwilling enough, God knows. I've got a note in my hand--a pitiful little letter from a trusting, innocent girl, to a man who, if he does not mean her harm, surely cannot mean her good, or he would not be leading her to meet him, and write to him in underhand ways. And I've been making up my mind, as I came along, to make an appeal to that man, as surely he'll listen to it if he has a man's heart in his breast. She is scarcely more than a child, sir, and she knows nothing of the world. Leave her alone, and she may yet be a happy woman; go on as you've begun, and it will be death and heartbreak to her, and her wrongs will lie at your door."

He stands there and looks at me, and, by the light of the lamp we was standing under, I sees his handsome, devilish face, sneering, and triumphing, and scorning me, as if I was a worm in the dirt under his feet.

"My good fellow," he says, "you are a little too late. Hand me that letter and be off, before I find it necessary to help you. How you got hold of the note I don't know, but I do know it was never given to you to deliver, and that I should be well warranted in kicking you back to your quarters, for your deuced impudence and presumption."

But I held the letter tight.

"Very well, sir," I answers, respectful, but firm as a rock. "This letter goes back to the house, and before night is over the Captain will have read it himself, and can judge for himself what is best."

I didn't finish, for the next thing I knew was that he strode up to me and grasped hold of me by my collar, and the minute I saw what he meant to do, I felt I had made a mistake in bringing the letter at all, and in fancying that any appeal could touch or move him. There was a struggle between us, but it did not last long; he being the stronger and I the much the younger man,

"Rabbett," says he, "there is blood on your face."

"Perhaps so, sir," I says. "I've had a fall."

And then I sits down and tells him all about it;

about what I had meant and what I had done, and I ends up by asking him what he thinks we had better do, now that my plans had failed.

"Master Lionel," I says, "it would seem a dreadful hard sort of thing to do, if we spoke to the Captain."

He turns quite pale at the thought of it.

"Watch," says he. "I can think of nothing else to do just yet. Rabbett, I will watch Rose, and you shall watch Roscoe; and if the worst comes, we must tell papa, we must. I suppose, Rabbett, that Roscoe will try to run away with Rose, as Farquhar ran away with that pretty Miss Lewis?"

"Yes, sir," I answers, "I'm afraid he will. But he is a worse man than Farquhar, and if Miss Rose goes away with him, I'm afraid he'll treat her hard enough when he tires of her, as such men as him always tires of young ladies."

"It would be better, Rabbett," says he, fixing his dark eyes solemnly on the fire, "it would be better that Rose should die. I know that."

"I am afraid, sir," I says, "that you are right." God knows how he had learned to understand, but understand he did, and he were that sad and wise about it that my very heart ached. He had seen an old enough side of him, had Master Lionel, living among the set he did, but he were a young gentleman as nothing could spoil. His nature were that fine-grained.

We kept our watch faithful all that week and part of the next, but we found out very little, though we had our suspicions--Master Lionel and me--as things was going on pretty bad in a secret way. But at last the very worst things as could have happened burst upon us all at once.

I was up at the house one evening, doing something or other for Mrs. Dalgety, when of a sudden I heard a tremendous loud ring at the doorbell, and going in a hurry to answer it, the Captain himself strode past me into the hall, all in a flame with the wine he had been drinking, and the passion he were in. I had seen him in towering enough tempers before, but I had never seen him look as he did then. It was my impression he were pretty near mad; indeed, I thought so then, and have thought so since. How could he have

Mrs. Solomon Says--

Being the Confessions of the Seven-Hundred Wife.

By Helen Rowland.

HOW low, oh thou Foolish One, wilt thou continue to cry out against me Vanity of men?

Verily, verily, I say unto thee a little VANITY is more potent than a New England conscience!

And though vanity may be the cause of man's man's sins, it is likewise the source of most of his virtues.

Go to! Is it vanity that causes him to shave his chin, and make his kisses endurable?

Is it not vanity that maketh him to resist glutony, est he lose his waistline and his fat charm?

Is it not vanity that prompteth him to cultivate the art and graces, so dear to thine heart, he be called "dub" amongst men, and written down a "boor" amongst women?

Is it not vanity that driveth him to the polishing of his pots and his fingernails and the prizing of his garments, that he may appear "prosperous"?

Is it not vanity that driveth him to hard work and great achievement, that the world may say of him, "Lo, he is a SUCCESS"?

Is it not vanity that matcheth him to the most vigorous? Now that we gain into possession of a great commanding marine, the question of the free is bound to become once more unfortunate that our British cousins to discuss this question, for if we no international agreement, binding in all circumstances, the alternative is as it is inevitable. We shall do our power to become as quickly as we can first naval power in the world, and sample Great Britain herself has set international agreement, we shall appear to secure respect for what we rights.

HOW IT AFFECTS THEM.
The camel leaned against a palm
And voiced a plaintive dole,
The while he sought to find a balm
To ease his troubled soul.
"Alas," he sighed, "I've been to see
The dance that bears my name,
And if the thing resembles me
I'll die for very shame."

"That's nothing," said the grizzly bear,
"That shuffling walk you do
Is such a cumbersome affair
They couldn't libel you.
My pride has felt a savage sting,
For in the dancing school,
They've made my graceful gait a thing
For scorn and ridicule."

"You make me ill," the rabbit said,
With a contemptuous glance,
"It makes me wish that I were dead
When I behold the dance.
I leap and run with studied art,
But broken is my pride,
The bunny hug has filled my heart
With thoughts of suicide!"

The tomcat stroked his fevered brow,
He wildly beat his breast,
And with a low and anguished "me-ow!"
The company addressed.
"These imitations that they make
Of me," he said, "are crimes,"
And leaping lightly in the lake
He drowned himself nine times.

Model Juror.
When Appellate Judge William H.

NATIONWIDE OPEN
SHOP MOVE SAID TO BE UNDER WAY

Many Men Reported Idle in Indiana While Employers
Organize to Bring Down
High Wages.

PLENTY OF WORK
AT LOWER PRICES

Unskilled and Piece Workers in Auto Plants Dropped and Then Re-Engaged at Smaller Salaries.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 10.—
Coincident with the slackening demand for unskilled or semi-skilled labor, a movement has been launched by the Associated Employers of Indianapolis to link together in one solid body all commercial and employing organizations in the country favorable to or committed to the "open shop." Already replies have been received from 600 such bodies scattered from coast to coast and from the gulf to the lakes.

It is proposed, according to A. J.
Allen, manager of the local association and representative here of the National Metal Trades Association
pre-eminent as the anti-union organization of the metal trades, to link up the many organizations just as the Chambers and Boards of Commerce of the country "found it worth while to form the United States Chamber of Commerce."

Formal announcement of the plan for this will not be made until the survey now under way by the Indianapolis body is complete.
This will require some weeks.

Allen revealed the plan when he was asked for data as to the extent of unemployment in Indianapolis and whether as a consequence wages were being reduced.

15,000 Men Out.

"Probably there are 16,000 men employed in the factories that there were earlier in the year," he said. "With those idle in other trades there may be 15,000 idle in all together. Things are being adjusted.
We are not going to do something.
They are coming down more. Why shouldn't they? Sugar has come down. Why not labor?"

"Is it true?" he was asked. "The some employers are discharging men and then, after a spell, or in mediately are rehiring them at lower wages?"

"Yes, I believe it is. It is part of the necessary readjustment wages," he answered. "That, you will find, has been done by the National Motor Co. But that is not the big story here. It is in that state questionnaire that they ask the desk—600 of them," he continued pointing to them. "We have consulted every organization in the country that we had reason to believe we were interested in the option. These answers show the movement is nation-wide.

"The difficulty has been that they have been working independently each other. Ours is one of the old open shop organizations in the country, dating back to 1914. We took upon ourselves to find just what other associations did and now fact none of these organizations work
the Chambers of Commerce formally.
They exchange information at times,
but their efforts are not related.
Eventually the commercial bodies found it necessary to form
the United States Chamber of Commerce. It works well. Eventually that may be done by the organizations working independently."

"We will not, however, use the term 'open shop.' The term to us is the 'independent shop' for that what it is—Independent of unions. Nor will the term 'open shop' be used. That is a misnomer. What we are for is an American plan. It means the union under which any man, irrespective of his union or non-union, is free to work.
That is all the to—it just an American plan.
out any interference from unions and with every man free to do any bargain satisfactory to him and his employer."

"Open Shops" Organized.
Allen explained that there are merous national organizations voted to the "open shop" or,
as new nomenclature has it, the "independent shop." Those who, however, are more or less restricted trade among them have named the Manufacturers' Association, the Industrial Conference Board and National Metal Trades Association.

"Though there are eight big national unions with headquarters here," he went on, "this city is except in the building trades, are largely union and consequently ineffective. The fight will be made for them to stay in the labor
the closed shop movement."

"That has got to be fought.
wages and prices are to come in
